

Title: Environmental sustainability beirut

Generated on: 2026-05-18 19:51:52

Copyright (C) 2026 ALEXANDRA BESS. All rights reserved.

-----

Examining sustainable and alternative urban design approaches that go against the grain might yield important information on promoting a more inclusive and sustainable urban environment.

Walking, it has been said, is the ultimate form of sustainable public transportation. Beirut, however, is one of the most pedestrian unfriendly cities in the world. Many streets do not even have sidewalks.

AUB's Nature Conservation Center was highlighted for its role in promoting environmental stewardship, community development, and biodiversity conservation, showcasing AUB's leadership ...

It aims at responding to urgent and critical environmental issues arising out of the Port of Beirut (PoB) explosion on August 4, 2020, as well as mitigating public health and environmental risks.

Beirut, The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the Ministry of Environment (MoE) organized a panel discussion titled "Planning through Crisis: Climate Progress ...

In March 2024, the World Bank launched Lebanon's CCDR report, revealing that the country is one of the least prepared globally to face climate change. This is due to the country's low ...

Our partnership with UN-Habitat marks a significant turning point in our mission to revive and transform Beirut. By working together, we can harness our collective strengths and resources to...

Beirut 2050 is an ambitious vision for transforming Beirut into a sustainable, resilient, and thriving city by mid-century. This initiative, conceived by IRE Engineering Office, focuses on balancing ...

Website: <https://www.lesfablesdalexandra.fr>

